

Organisation Life Cycle study of non-profits

This study aimed at contributing to the theoretical framework of studying lifecycle stages in Non-profit organizations. It involved two layers of understanding; 1) a systematic review of literature to extract a comprehensive five-stage life cycle model for Non-profits; and 2) corroborating the model by mapping the journey of PRADAN across this five stage lifecycle model. This unique five stage model of growth can aid non profit leaders in decision making. We share this exciting work through a working paper that has currently been submitted for internal review. The team is also thrilled to share that our paper proposal titled “From Genesis to Metamorphosis: Life cycle stages of non profit organizations” submitted to the conference organised by Association for Nonprofit and Social Economy Research (ANSER) has been accepted for presentation. The theme of this year’s conference, to be held in June is “Nonprofits and the Social Economy: Bridging Divides”
